1967-1968: Year of Change

The world is always changing. Some changes are rapid. Others, of necessity, come slowly. Institutional changes, such as those in the Church, are generally slow ones.

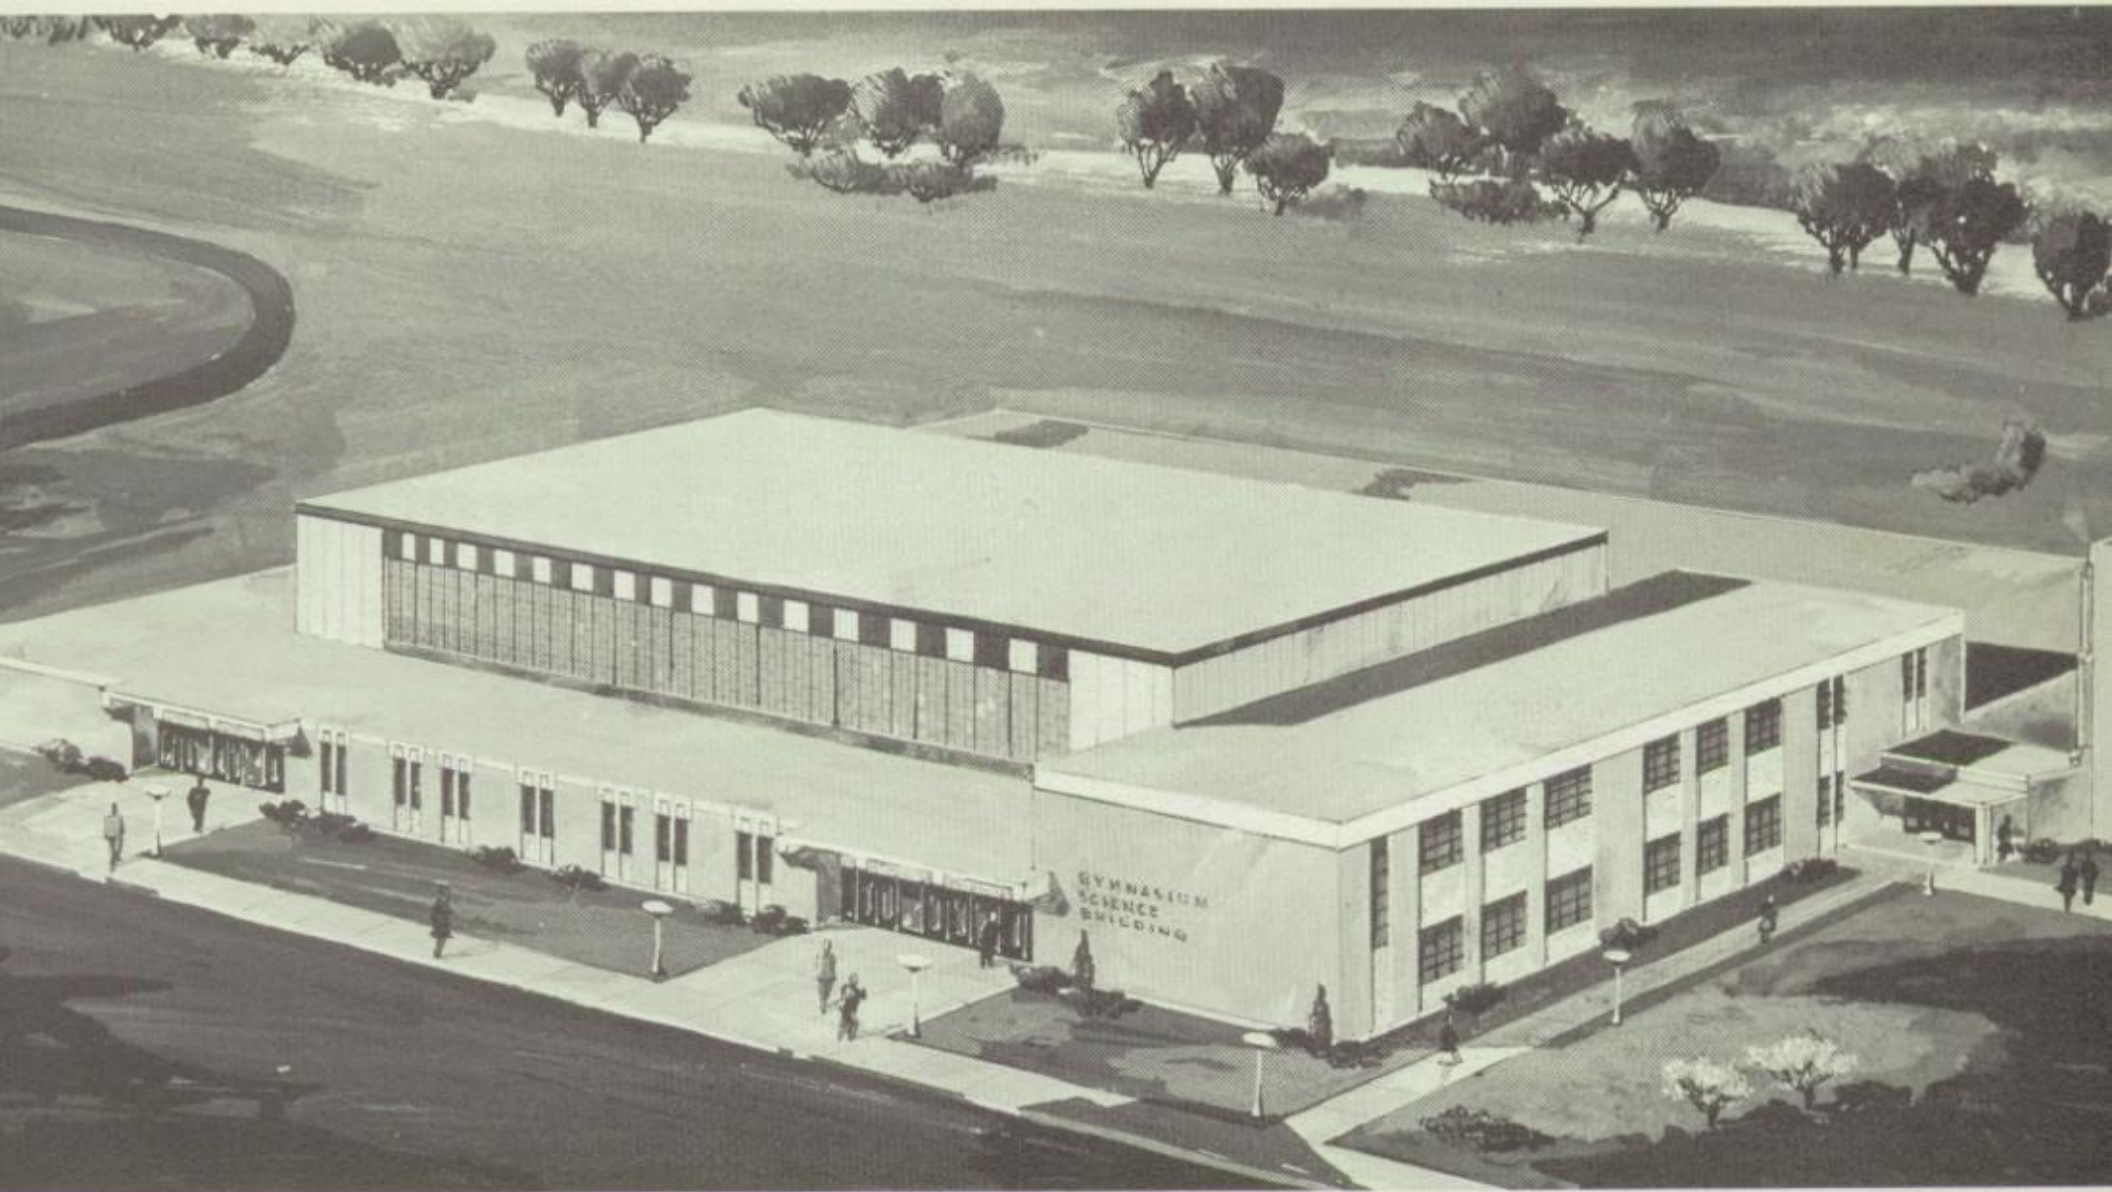

Memorial High School is one such institution where few changes have been made since its dedication in 1925. The building, the gift of Francis Joseph Reitz to the youth of Evansville, has changed little. Occasional improvements and renovations have been made. The girls' uniforms lengths have risen and fallen with the fashion of the day. The basic set-up of the school under a co-institutional system has still persevered.

This academic year, however, has seen major changes in Memorial's physical structure. During the summer the first of these changes took place when the cafeteria was redecorated and a terrazzo floor installed. Later in the year, the auditorium was rejuvenated, stripped of its regal chandeliers, a modern lighting system was installed, and the walls and ceiling were painted.

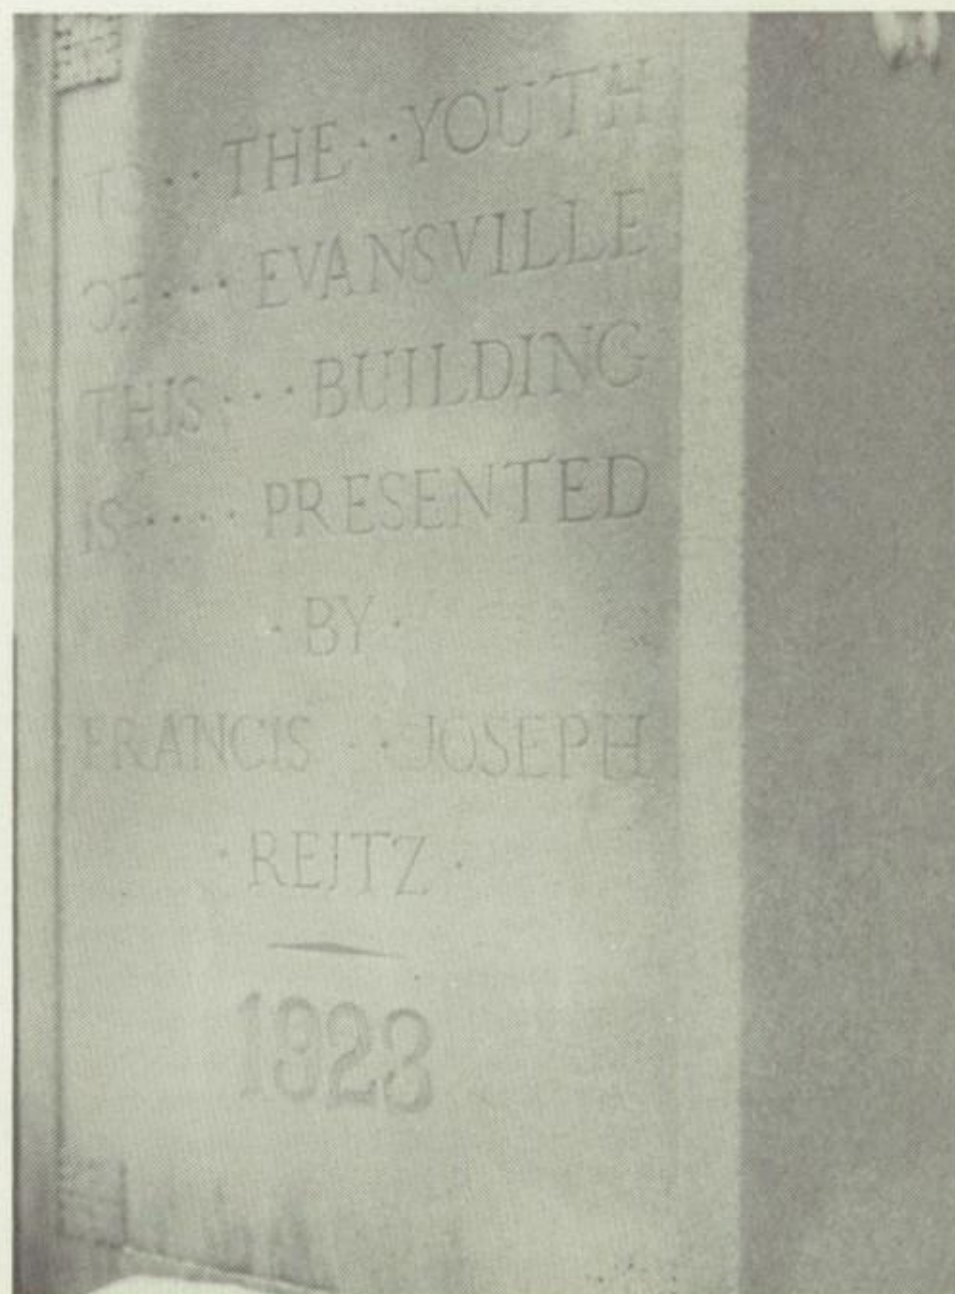

Late spring saw the beginning of another extensive change. Construction of the long awaited addition was begun. This wing, pictured in the architect's sketch on the opposite page, will contain a 2200 seat gymnasium, music rooms, science laboratories, and a more spacious library.

Now, with the coming of our long awaited changes, we will be even more proud of our school. A new chapter has been added to the ever-changing story of Memorial and its rich heritage.

It is the sincere wish of all persons concerned with the Memorial Review, and of the graduating Senior Class, that the spirit prevalent in 1967-68, will continue and that Memorial will remain unsurpassed athletically, intellectually, spiritually, and in the quality of its graduates.
